

June 2007

ProCut Series 3 and International Colour Schemes grab the attention at Fieldays

Trimax captured an international flavour at this year's New Zealand Fieldays at Mystery Creek – and proved one of the hits of the show.

Trimax displayed its range of machines sporting the international colours of its popular export markets including England, France, USA, Australia and South Africa – capturing the imagination of visitors and the attention of many interested buyers.

The new ProCut Series 3 in particular received a lot of attention as we expected".

During the 4 day event, the special edition mowers were very popular with buyers.

"Only 3 of the mowers have not been sold and we are working with interested parties on these".

Fieldays also saw the official New Zealand launch of the new ProCut Series 3, the latest evolution of the ProCut model, a stalwart of the Trimax range since 1985. ProCut mowers have taken a significant worldwide share in the market for mowing systems used on parks and reserves, estates, school grounds, sports fields, race tracks, and airfields.

"It was a great show for Trimax," explained Sales Manager Allan Dudley. "There was plenty of interest in the range and even more so because we presented it all in unique international colour schemes.

